What is RevoLotto

RVL is an abbreviation of RevoLotto. Collectively it is a four-dimensional Coin. On every trade 80% to the investor, 6% divided between all holders, 5% will be burnet, and 9% will automatically be added into Liquidity Pool and the coin will be locked into the locker which will be equal to the value of the coins, and its duration is three months. If any investor is holding it for three months not only, he will own multiple profits but also after the completion of the locker's duration, he will be eligible for coins automatically as a bonus.

Apparently, every trade has a 20% fee but in reality, which is approximately about 5% because 5% Burn and 9% Locked coins are actually owned by the investor. But 5% burn, 9% adding into Liquidity pool and locking of Coin into Liquidity pool for three months is a hindrance to the investor to sell for a limited period of time. So as long as the price is up to the purchase price, many more investors will have come, which means that where the first investor will make a profit, many investors will have come, and the price will go up. No one will be able to pull down the price. And secondly, when there is 5% coins burn on each trade and 9% in the locker, the price will go up sharply, so who holds it longer, will be entitled to more profit.

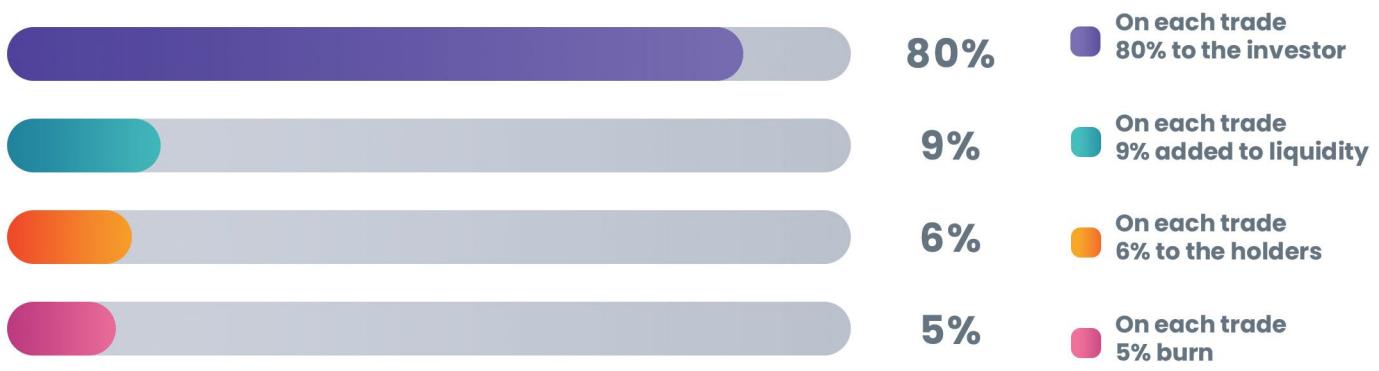

www.revolutto.org

0x6dc3d0D6EC970BF5522611D8eFF127145D02b675

In lieu of the fee which is about 5%, every investor will get the reward, due to which investors coins will continuously increase, so, on one hand, their coin will increase and on the other price will climb up, by which the investor will get many times the profit. These features make the Revolotto unique and indifferent from other crypto currencies.

Illustration

Let us illustrate it for you what you have been told earlier. For example, you have invested 100$, 20% will be charged in terms of fee and you have got 80$ worth of coins which will bind you to hold for some specific period of time. Out of 6% from 20 % (which was charged in terms of fee) was sent to all holders, 5% was burnt and value was added into Liquidity and remaining 9% were locked for three months and value was added into Liquidity. Now you have also got some percentage out of the 6% which was received by all holders. Now, in reality, the actual fee was approximately 5% and due to the transfer of remaining coins into Burn and Locker which makes you the owner of that asset if you hold until the rise of the price and it would be safely kept into the Liquidity, as of your deposit. Charging 14% as a fee is not a fee but it is only to keep you bound as a Holder. Now if you keep holding then not only you will get back 14% (which was charged in terms of fee) safely in return but also on every trade you will get reward in lieu of 5% which you have paid in terms of fee and your balance will grow. So longer you hold, the more you will earn the profit.

Be clear that do not invest in Revolotto if you have a dream to be rich in overnight, but if you really want to be rich then after investment you have to be patient and those who will be patient will get more than they expecting but those who will be impatient will lose their profit.

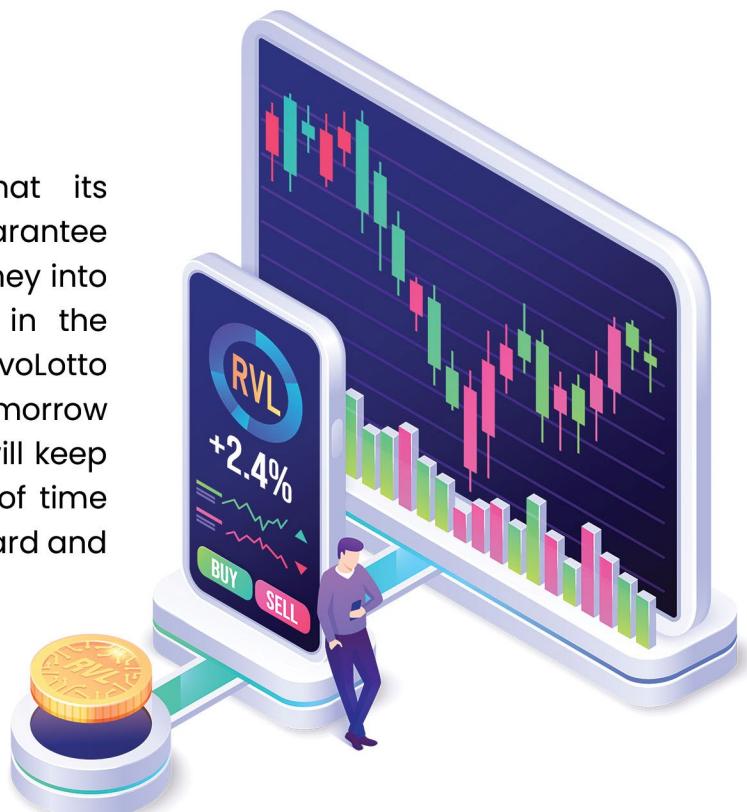

Price Impact

First of all, we have to know what a Price fluctuation is. And what causes the rise and fall of price?

For example, there are 100 coins and 100$ in the Liquidity pool, so money in the Liquidity Pool will be divided on the coins pooled and the answer will decide the price of a coin as if we divide 100$ and 100 coins (which are in liquidity pool) to each other's the answer will be the price of a coin. It means that one coin is worth 1$. Now if the number of coins will be increased into the Liquidity Pool and the quantity of money will decrease, will bring the price down. But on the contrary, if the money will increase into the Liquidity Pool and the number of coins will decrease then the price will rise. It clearly indicates that for a higher price it is indispensable to increase the money into Pool and numbers of coins must be minimized, if this happens then the price will 100% rise up.

This is the typicality of RevoLotto that its four-dimensional reflectionary features Guarantee continuous rise of price to increase the Money into the Liquidity Pool and minimizing coins in the Liquidity Pool. It means that the price of RevoLotto which was today will never be the same tomorrow but it will be with a little bit of fluctuation will keep rising up. In conclusion, with the passage of time the price of RevoLotto will slowly climb upward and it would be impossible to fell down.

At the same time when investors invested, the price rises up and those who invested for a lower price prior to them; due to the rise of the price they think they are getting profit and sold at once which results in a fallen price and it makes the investors disappointed and creates a hindrance for the project's success. The success of a project is only and only possible in one case when we must not allow the price to fall down. The features of RevoLotto are saving it from failure and provide a guarantee for its success.

As soon as someone invested then he has to wait until came the more investors. And its result would be that there would be more buying percentage than selling. So, no one can pull down the price and the price will climb upwards. Thus, the longer you hold on, the more profits you will be entitled to. Secondly, 6% charge in terms of fee, 5% Burn and 9% into Locker will fully support the price to rise up. The success of each project lies in the continuous rising of the price and the features of RevoLotto fully guarantees its success.

RevoLotto is a Lotto that will give you a 100% jackpot if you are holding with patient.

Is RevoLotto a Meme-Coin?

R

RevoLotto is not a Meme-Coin, and why it is not a meme coin you have to know it first.

V

What is a Meme coin?

Meme coin was actually started due to the popularity of Dogecoin. The actual meaning of Meme- (derived from the word mimicry) Coin is a "Joke, Pun," which has no value of its own; it's a one-time joke, so people who took this joke seriously and invested in it lose their investment.

Two types of people invested in Meme-Coins, those who took advantage and others who lost their investments. Those who took advantage from Meme-Coin knows that the Meme-Coin is a joke and has no future, due to lack of knowledge, other people compared it with Bitcoin, Ethereum, and other Digital Currencies, that in start, these coins were also very cheap and after some years, their price was sky high so if they invested in it few years prior they would be Millionaire today.

So they felt that they have lost an opportunity in past but if they invest in today's newly launched coins then they can be Millionaire after some time, so, these kinds of people by having no awareness invest in Meme-Coins and set back while waiting for the prices to go sky high as happened with the BitCoin in the past, will also going to happen with them but they are totally unaware of the fact that Meme-Coin has no seriousness in it and is just a joke on the name of Digital Currency and they invested in it while considering it a serious deal.

On other hand, those who have this knowledge take the complete advantage of other people who lack awareness and they advertise the Meme Coin more and more so that more and more people can take this joke seriously and throw their investment into it and then the aware class becomes the owner of their investment.

The same class introduces the Meme Coin and at the moment of launch they by themselves bought the big quantity of these Meme-Coins and set back, At the moment people starting investing in it than those people who bought it very cheap or the owner of the meme coin who knows it is worthless starting selling their free supply and became the owner of the people's assets, so after some days these Meme-Coins proved to be a real joke and those who invested in it were remorse or try to Giving them false consolations, it seems that its prices will go up one day or another, which is nothing more than deliberate deception.

What is the identity of Meme-Coin?

The easiest identification of a Meme-Coin is its supply. The supply of Meme-Coin is always huge in numbers which means that if any coin has a larger quantity than 500 Million then it is a Meme-coin. The second identification of Meme-coin is, at the moment of its launch its price shoots up suddenly, and afterward, it never climbs up again nor it can be, because those who are capital grabbers already grabbed the capital at the moment of its launch, that's why at the moment of launch its price shoots up and these capital grabbers grabbed the investors capital and then they have no further interest in it. So, these are the very easy identifications of Meme-coins on the basis of which you can easily point out the Meme-coins and can keep distance from them as well as can invest your capital into a safe coin.

Two factors must be considered before investing in any coin, the first factor is its supply, less the supply more will be the hope of its ascend, if a coin has more supply than usual, It is important to keep in mind that whether its contract has an auto burn on every trade or not. Not only presence of this function is utmost necessary but also it should be fully functional because in the presence of this function, will reduce its total supply on every trade and no one can stop its price to climb up. Special steps have been taken in RevoLotto about auto burn but also the quantity of auto burn is being increased which is going to make it make sure that its total supply would be reduced as soon as possible so, the price can ascend.

The initial total supply of RevoLotto is 210 Million which is not only very minimalistic but also on each trade 5% of its supply will burn until its total supply will be reduced to few hundred thousand or even a few thousands. It means that a time will come when one RevoLotto will be worth more than 100000$. These remarkable features of RevoLotto make it unique from all other digital currencies. He, who will hold RevoLotto longer as much as he can be 100% entitled of gold.

RevoLotto Revolutionary Coins Circulation Cycles

Reduction of coins and continuous increase of price.

When coins will be circulated in the forms of trade equal to total supply, then 5% of the total supply will burn, which will reduce the total supply by 5%, same will happen with the start of the second cycle which will not only reduces 5% more supply but also the cycle completion time, so in every cycle, not only 5% supply will be reduced but also price will continuously climb up.

On completion of every coin circulation cycle, 5% supply will burn, by which 5 % of the total supply will be eliminated which will not only be resulted in a stable price but also will climb upwards, meaning thereby that the price which was before the price of total supply is now the minimum price of 5% reduced supply.

For example, if the total supply is 100 coins and its value is 100$, meaning thereby each coin is worth 1$ then after the completion of one coin circulation cycle not only 5% of the supply will be reduced but also only 95 coins out of 100 will left and now the price of 100 coins will be equal to 95 coins, it means that the coin which was worth 1$ is now worth 1.05 $ after the completion of circulation of the cycle. Now total supply reduced to 95 coins, so after completion of the second circulation cycle, the present total supply which was 95 coins will be 5% further reduces.it means now we have 90.25 coins in total supply and its worth is equal to a minimum of 100$.

It means each coin is worth a minimum of 1.10 $.

As the Coin Circulation Cycle is completed, the supply on each cycle will decrease and the price will increase.

Even if the total supply is reduced from 100 coins to 1 coin then a coin will be worth a minimum of 100$, which means that if someone has bought a coin at that time when it was worth 1$ and he holds it until the supply came to 1 coin then his one coin will be worth of a minimum of 100$.

Hold is Gold

What is a coins circulation cycle and how it works?

When coins will circulate and the quantity of coins circulation will be equal to total supply then, one coin circulation cycle will be completed and, for its completion, 5% of the total supply will be burn and 5% will also be reduced.

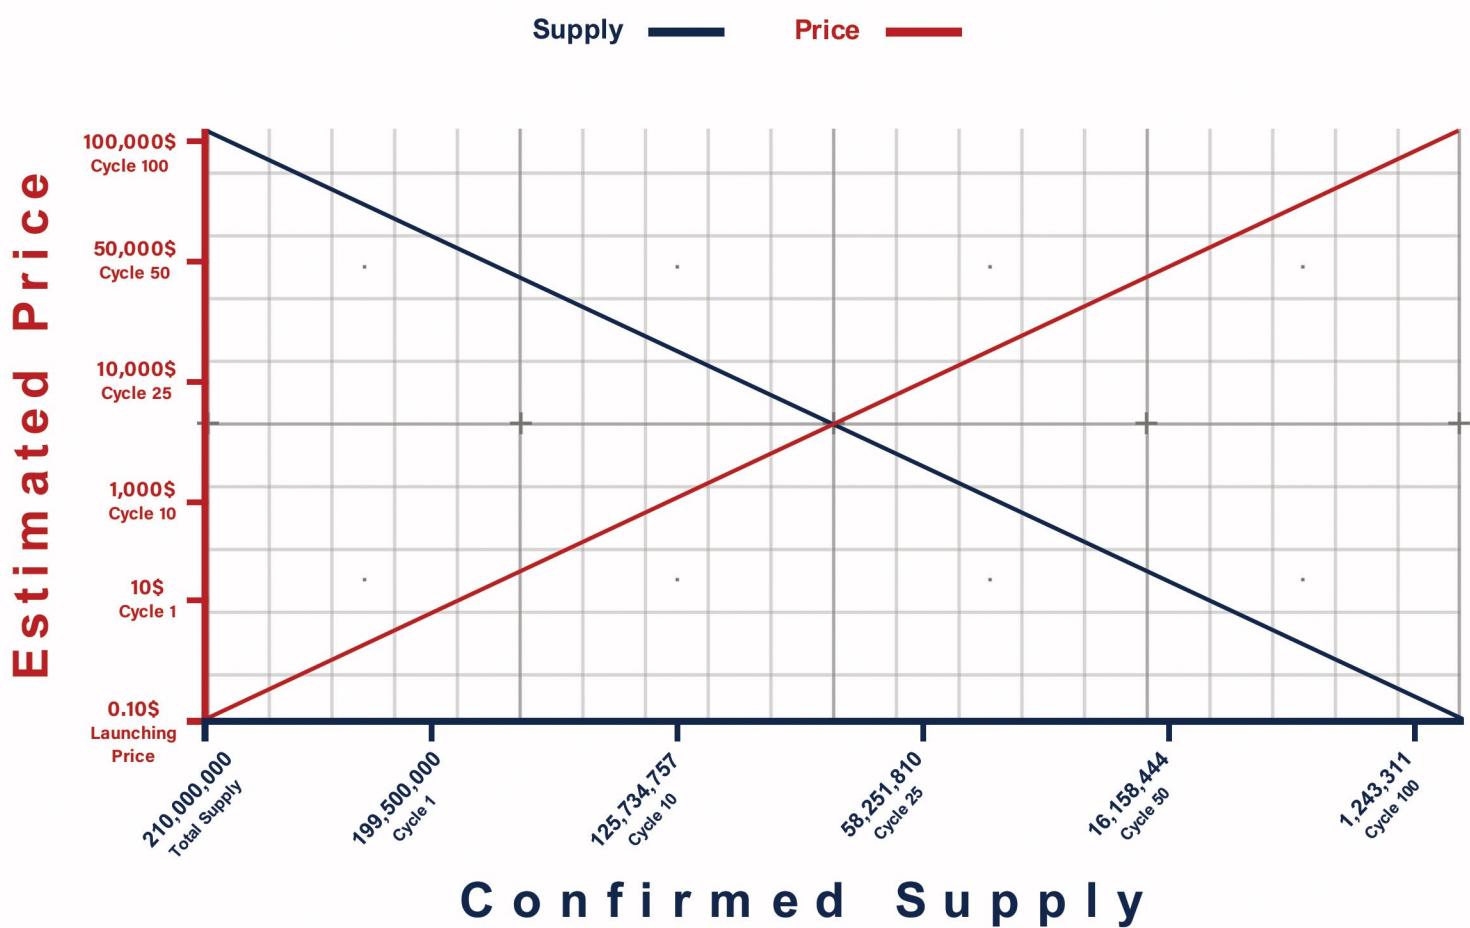

for example, if the total supply is 100 coins, then it is not necessary that 100 out of 100 coins will circulate, but if one coin is circulating 100 times then the quantity of coin circulation will be equal to the total supply which means that one circulation cycle is completed.

It is not necessary to circulate the total supply for the completion of the coins Circulation Cycle, but the more the supply will circulate, the more the Coins Circulation Cycle will be completed and the Total Supply will be reduced to a minimum.
